When entering the unread lab reports section, an X is marked in the new column alerting the user that no one in the facility has viewed that report. This will allow better management of who prints reports in the facility decreasing the chance of a report being printed multiple times.

If there are no unread reports, the patient search screen opens by default. From this point the user can search for patients by name, social security number or by checking the recently selected patients box.

From the patient search screen the user can search for the patient and can select the results tab by opening the drop down box for lab reports. By selecting this option the user can define their search for previously viewed lab reports as well as unread reports.
